Looking for IT-Graduates to join our team in Berlin!

If you are looking for a great opportunity to start your career and wish to live and work in one of the most inspiring and creative metropoles in Europe, then this is your chance!

Who are we

We are a group of developers who are creating website start-ups. We love big challenges and our aim is to be innovative and creative at the same time!

What are we doing

Presently we are working on a dynamic website which makes group-bookings possible in real time. It allows groups of all sizes to find available accommodation where they can stay together as a group, not forced to sleep in multiple hotels/hostels because of insufficient availability. Together with accommodation we will also be offering the possibility to book tours, musical tickets, museums, and sightseeing possibilities.
We offer Group availabillity in REAL-TIME and the bookings can be updated and altered subsequently in our backend module.

Why are we doing it

To date there is no website on the market where you can book group accommodation and then combine it with a wide variety of ancillary services at the destination in real-time. We are going to change that!!!

What do we offer

We are offering a fulltime job in BERLIN/GERMANY with excellent future perspectives and a cool working atmosphere! We pay according skills and enthusiasm.
